VISHINSKY APPROVES GERMAN ARMED FORCE

Arms Programs Standardized By Three Allies

U. S., Canada, Britain
Arrange Related
Training, Equipment

LONDON, Dec. 19—(AP)—
Britain, the United States and Canada announced today a plan for standardizing their arms and military training.

"These arrangements will insure that in time of necessity there will be no material or technical obstacles to full cooperation among the armed forces concerned and the greatest possible economy in the use of combined resources and effort will be obtained," the Ministry of Defense said.

It added that "no treaty, executive agreement or contractual obligation has been entered into by the participating nations."

The three nations have been examining the standardization problem since 1947.

Missions have now been exchanged between the three nations on a technical level. Here the U. S. mission was generally called "nuts and bolts"—an apt title for its mission of studying standardization of minor but vital parts in the Western Powers defense machinery.

The defense ministry said,
"Our arrangements were decentralized (down) to the working level agencies of the armed forces of the three nations for study in various fields of military equipment and operational procedures."
"The studies are aimed at the gradual development of common designs and standards in arms, equipment and training methods."

"Cooperative arrangements for this purpose do not impair the control of any country concerned over any of the activities in its territory."

"These arrangements, which have been under discussion since 1947, are a step towards the fulfillment of the wider arrangements under the North Atlantic Military Production and Supply Board which calls for the promotion of 'standardization of the parts and end products of military equipment' in the North Atlantic area. They are similar to arrangements already made by the Brussels treaty powers."

Members of the Brussels treaty group—Britain, France, Luxembourg, Belgium and Holland—already have made considerable progress in standardization.

Wards Greeted In Yokohama

Consul, Wife Safe In
U. S. Hands After Year

YOKOHAMA, Dec. 19—(AP)—
Consul General and Mrs. Angus
Ward came back to fellow Americans today from a year's virtual imprisonment by the Chinese Reds and got a rousing welcome for their 30th wedding anniversary.

The Wards and members of the consulate staff at Mukden, Manchuria, arrived here aboard the Lakeland victory to complete the first leg of their journey back to the United States.

The consul general, kicked out by the Chinese Communists, was greeted by 200 Americans when the ship docked.

The Communists accused him of beating two Chinese employes in a wage dispute. The U. S. State department said the charge was "trumped up."

The consul general related it all again today at the pier for Japanese newsmen. He said his group was treated "very, very poorly—most inhumanly."

The Wards are scheduled to leave Japan for the U. S. on the liner President Wilson Thursday.
He said he would go to Washington and then take a "spot of leave."

Aussie Cabinet Includes Woman

Menzies' Group Sworn In; Dame Enid Is VP

CANBERRA, Australia, Dec.
19—(AP)—The anti-socialist coalition today took control of Australia's government with a cabinet including a woman member for the first time in the commonwealth's history.

Premier Robert Gordon Menzies, Dame Enid Lyons and 17 other cabinet ministers were sworn in by Governor-General
William J. McKell, representing King George VI.

Dame Enid, widow of former Prime Minister Joseph A. Lyons and first woman member of the house of representatives, became vice president of the executive council.

Known throughout Australia as a public speaker, broadcaster and champion of women's rights, she will preside at council meetings when Menzies is absent.

Sworn in with Menzies were 13 members of his own Liberal party and five members of the country party. They had campaigning successfully on the same anti-socialist platform against the Labor party which had controlled the government since 1941.

Arthur William Fadden, leader of the country party and a former prime minister, was sworn in as deputy prime minister and treasurer, next to Menzies in rank. Fadden's party won 20, perhaps 21, seats in the house of representatives; Menzies' Liberals captured 53, perhaps 54 seats, to Labor's 47. Final returns are still incomplete.

The Sydney Morning Herald termed the new government a "strong cabinet." Ten of the new ministers have held cabinet posts before. Five more are parliamentary veterans and one is a top Australian diplomat.

Keener Home, Pleased With World Trip

Industrialist Will Continue Business
Flights, He Says

Sam Keener, Salem's good will ambassador and globe trotting businessman, returned home Saturday night after covering 44,000 air miles in his DC-4 plane.

His business trip, which began Aug. 7 ended at 6:52 p. m. Saturday at Canton-Akron airport.
More than 200 well-wishers, business associates and friends were on hand to meet Keener when he stepped from his plane after a non-stop flight from Santa Barbara, Calif.

With him were two crewmen who made the entire trip: Pilot Nelson U. Rokes and Keener's secretary Ellwood Broadwater of Canton.

Keener plans to continue his flying business trips, but says that about the only points he hasn't touched are the North and South poles.

"But if they use furnaces there, I'll be around to sell them," he promised.

Keener, 61-year-old president of the Salem Engineering Co., was honored at a reception at the Metzger hotel Saturday evening, attended by more than 250 people.

His world junket yielded contracts for his company with firms in Iran, India, Australia, Japan, Italy, Sweden, France, Great Britain and Israel.

"The whole world is in a sorry state," the Salem businessman told reporters.

A year ago Keener made a similar business trip through Europe and gained some $3 million worth of contracts, including basic steel-mill equipment, furnaces and open hearths.

U. S., Salem Brightest Spots
After reaching home Keener remarked that "the United States is the brightest spot I've seen in all my travels and Salem is the best looking of the bunch."

He said his DC-4 functioned perfectly, with no motor trouble whatsoever. The plane averaged 210 miles an hour for the 44,000 miles. It consumed over 185 gallons of high test gasoline for every hour of flight. The total consumption was more than 55,500 gallons.

On the subject of taxes, Keener expressed concern over our own tax setup.

"I am concerned deeply about our terrifically high rate of taxation and it is my belief that unless we do something to reduce taxes, we're headed for the poorhouse."

"Our governmental payroll is a constant drain on our resources.
We have reached the point of vanishing returns," Keener concluded.

Towboat Trapped At

Newell, W. Va., Dam

EAST LIVERPOOL, Dec. 19—
(AP)—The towboat Inca resumed its trip to Paducah, Ky., today after being swept broadside against Dam 8 at nearby Newell, W. Va., Sunday.

The Diesel craft of the India River Lines and its tow of seven tank barges escaped damage, but it took 18 hours work to get it off the dam and headed downstream.

Lockmaster Joseph Green said the Inca was caught in the swift current of the Ohio river about noon yesterday as Capt. R. C.
Rasberry of Commerce, Mo., maneuvered to be locked through the dam.

Turned broadside, the boat came to rest with the front barge nosed into the mud of the Ohio shore and the remainder of the tow crosswise at the piers of the two spillways.

It was the first such mishap at
No. 8 since it was built in 1904.

Christmas Mail Stacked High At Postoffice

"Twas the week before Christmas" . . . and Salem postoffice workers were doubly certain of this fact when they arrived at work this morning to begin the laborious task of sorting and distributing a peak load of Christmas packages and cards. The Salem News photographer found Carrier Earl Miller (above left) helping Clerk Ray Weingart extricate himself from an avalanche of gift parcels. But the postal clerks, not the type to shirk any duties, plead, "Mail Early." They want to be able to spend Christmas at home, too.

Left-Wingers Blast Eisenhower

ADA, Ex-Rooters, Say
He Joined Opposition

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19—(UP)—
A salvage left-wing attack on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower kept the political spotlight on him today as a likely 1952 Republican presidential nominee.

His old pals, the Americans for Democratic Action, turned on Ike, complaining that he had joined forces with the "advocates of the jungle state."

The national board of ADA, of which Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D) of Minneapolis is the head man, ended a two-day pow-wow in Baltimore with a repudiation of Gen. Eisenhower. Mr. Humphrey was not present.

ADA coupled Ike with James F.
Byrnes, the former senator, Supreme court justice and Secretary of State, as deserters from the welfare state.

ADA consists of New Dealers and others who stand considerably to the left of many elements of the Democratic party. The Roosevelt family is active in the organization, and there is a sprinkling of social Democrats.

Mr. Byrnes was a big man in the New Deal until FDR's death.

Only last year, ADA was booming Gen. Eisenhower for President.

Water Conference Called By Gov. Dewey

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 19—(AP)— Gov. Thomas E. Dewey summoned the state's top water supply officials and their engineering aides to a conference today on
New York City's water crisis.

There was no announcement in advance of the late afternoon meeting what steps, if any, the state would take. However, Dewey's sudden call indicated some plan of aid for the city's 8,000-000 residents might be forthcoming.

New York City officials said the municipal reservoirs upstate were at 34.8 per cent of capacity as of yesterday.

The weather bureau predicted only occasional, light rains during the day for the 1,000-square mile watershed.

A month's rain is needed to bring the water supply back to normal in the city's two reservoir systems.

Action May Push Allies To Arm West Zone

Reds Plan Police
Army; Re-activate
Munitions Plants

By RICHARD S. WEIL
BERLIN, Dec. 19—(INS)—A high American source said today the Allies may be forced to establish a West German 'military force' to meet the threat of a 400,000-man East German Communist police army reported in the making.

Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky was disclosed last night to have authorized the vast Russian-equipped East German puppet force on his recent stop-over in Berlin.

A leading U. S. official said the Western powers may have to sanction a Bonn-controlled counter-force if the Russians are successful in building a Communist army on the scale they apparently are planning.

Vishinsky reportedly gave the go-ahead to President Wilhelm Pieck and acting Premier Walter Ulbricht to mobilize the police army through a one-year compulsory military training program.

He was said also to have authorized the reactivation of all remaining arms and munitions factories in the Soviet zone.

The American official predicted the Allies should know within coming months whether the Russians can successfully mold a highly-efficient army in the East German area.

"It is perhaps possible they will be hampered by continued purges. But if they can build a force really loyal to them it will be something the Allies must recon with."

He made it clear that everything depended on whether the Russians stay in Germany in force after a peace treaty. He foresaw the "possibility" of a separate West German treaty with the Allies that would allow the Germans to build up their own "security force."

East German sources said that Vishinsky has rejected the possibility of a separate East zone peace treaty with Russia in favor of an interim agreement ending the technical state of war between East Germany and the Soviet Union.

This would be followed, it was said, by the withdrawal of Soviet occupation troops.

Russians Build Three Battleships, Sub Fleet

LONDON, Dec. 19—(AP)—
While Britain and the United States are scrapping or mothballing many of their warships, Soviet Russia is reported to be building up her naval strength with rocket-firing battleships and long-range submarines.

Jane's Fighting Ship's, the authoritative naval publication, said today the Russians are believed building three ultra-modern, 35,000-ton battleships, equipped with radio-controlled aerial torpedoes and rockets. Two others were said to be in the blueprint stage, and possibly in the shipyard stocks.

Russia already is known to possess two battleships.

The Soviet Union also envisages, as part of its five-year naval building program, a fleet of from 750 to 1,000 long-range submarines by 1951, Jane's said.

Jane's said it did not believe the Reds had either the shipyards or the technicians to achieve their goal of 1,000 subs by the end of 1951. It estimated Russia now has 360 subs.

Jane's observed that though the U. S. Navy has suffered further reductions, "it still is a colossal fleet of 2,600 warships." These included 15 battleships, 102 aircraft carriers and 169 submarines.

Santa and the Magician

Chapter 13

MR. DILLY TRIES SOME TRICKS

SANTA, with Mr. Dilly and Henry close behind him, ran into the barn where the flying reindeer were kept.

"We'll fly away on the deer," said Santa puffing and panting. "Then we can decide what to do next."

"Where are the deer?" cried Mr. Dilly. "It's so dark in here I can't see them."

"Henry, light the lamps," ordered Santa.

Quickly the boy obeyed. Santa and Mr. Dilly and Henry each took a lantern to the stalls and peered in. There were no reindeer. Instead eight little gumdrops, green and orange and yellow, lay in the straw.

"Oh, my!" gasped Santa. "I can't think what has happened. I can't understand why my magic wand caused this terrible thing."

Henry dropped his head. He had to tell Santa what had happened. "It's all my fault," he whispered so low Santa could scarcely hear him.

"Why, boy?" exclaimed Santa in surprise.

"No, no!" cried Mr. Dilly in a loud voice. "It's all my fault!"

"Why, man?" cried Santa, more surprised than ever.

Then Mr. Dilly and Henry told Santa how they had taken his wand in the woods to learn how to get a rabbit out of Mr. Dilly's hat. They told how they had lost the wand and the Wiggle Wagglers found it and gave Henry their evil wand in its place.

"And that's the wand you have now," finished Henry. "That's the reason it cursed our friends instead of the Wiggle Wagglers."

FOR a long time Santa sat thinking. Finally he said, "I do not dare use this wand again for who knows what evil it might cause. But, anyway, the Wiggle Wagglers will never have it again!"

With that he broke the stick over and over across his knee until it was in a dozen pieces and of no use to anyone.

"Now," he said, "We must get back my wand and all will be well."

"I'll go after it!" cried Henry. "I'll get it some way. They won't fool me again."

"No," said Santa. "Next time they get you will be the end of you for they mean to destroy us all."

At that very instant they heard the whooping and howling of the Wiggle Wagglers as the wicked creatures raced to the barns.

For the first time Santa seemed truly worried. "Only magic can save us," he murmured.

Mr. Dilly flung up his hands. "Merciful day! I had forgotten I was a magician. I have a thousand magic tricks! Come let's hurry outside."

ALL THREE CLIMBED STEADILY INTO THE BLUE

They ran out behind the barn. "What trick could you possibly know that would save us?" asked Santa.

"I must think," said Mr. Dilly. His chin sank on his chest as he thought and thought. All the time the Wiggle Wagglers came closer on the far side of the barn. You could almost hear them breathe as Mr. Dilly quietly thought over every trick he'd known in all his life as a magician.

Suddenly Zezop appeared around the corner of the barn.

"Too late," whispered Santa sadly.

A hundred Wiggle Wagglers joined Zezop and pushed around the corner. "Too late!" they echoed gleefully.

But Mr. Dilly raised his head. So quickly that no eye could follow his hand, he yanked a rope from his pocket and flung one end into the air.

"It's the magic rope trick," he shouted. "Follow me!"

Santa looked and Henry looked and even the Wiggle Wagglers stopped to look. Mr. Dilly's rope was standing straight up on the ground and Mr. Dilly was climbing the rope.

In an instant Santa and Henry followed and all three climbed steadily into the blue. In the next moment the Wiggle Wagglers had recovered from their astonishment but when they raced to the rope it really was too late—this time too late for them: Santa had pulled the end of the rope up after him and the Wiggle Wagglers could never reach it.

Meantime the other end of the rope rose as far as the eye could see. Mr. Dilly, Santa and Henry climbed for hours. When they were too tired to go on Mr. Dilly tied the rope into rings and they all three sat down in midair to rest.

"Mr. Dilly," said Santa. "This is one of the finest tricks I've ever seen. You are a great magician."

"Well," Henry reminded them abruptly. "We got away that time but what do we do now?"

Plan Yule Fete At Columbiana

Community Carol
Sings On Saturday

COLUMBIANA, Dec. 19.—This week marks the climax of community Christmas festivities in Columbiana to conclude with the carol sing at the Public Square Saturday evening from 7 to 7:45 o'clock, when Santa Claus will distribute gifts to children under 12 years.

Broadcasting of Christmas music from the roof of Holloway's store building and Wells drug store building began today, with record players provided by the Pierce Radio Shop and Public Address System provided by Firestone Legion Post.

Columbiana store will be open evenings this week. Official store hours for this week, announced by the Chamber of Commerce, are 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.; drug stores 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. Closing hour Saturday evening, Christmas Eve, will be 6 o'clock.

Station WKBN, Youngstown, will broadcast the community Christmas party and carol sing at the Public Square Saturday evening. Jerry Renkenberger of Salem will play the electric organ for the singing, which will be directed by R. J. Barrow. Hiram McGrath will be master of ceremonies. The traditional candle light service will be held in Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church at midnight.

The Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring its second annual home-lighting contest, for which seven cash prizes will be awarded by three judges. The prizes are: First, $25; second, $15; third and fourth, $10 each, and fifth, sixth and seventh, $5 each. Dr. Kenneth P. Murphy is director of the project.

Robbers Get $15,000 In Cleveland Home Job

CLEVELAND, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Robbers made off with $15,000 last night, police reported, when they blew open a safe in the home of Benny Mason, well-to-do

"BOOKIE"—Joseph Edward Nelson, 17, of Rome, Italy, breezed through the University of Chicago in 30 hours, passing tests that proved he has the equivalent of a college education and qualifying him for graduate work in mathematics. The boy said he was "a little surprised" at setting a new speed record at Chicago.

Cleveland Negro. Police said Travis Brabson, 60, Mason's father-in-law, was tied up by the robbers. He told police one of the robbers was outfitted in a policeman's uniform. Mason operates Benny Mason farm and a night club in Solon, O. Four men were being sought by police.

Italian Film Wins Best Of 1949 Award

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP)—A postwar Italian film is the best picture of 1949, says the National Board of Review of Motion Pictures.

Choice of the film, "The Bicycle Thief," was announced yesterday by the Board's Committee on Exceptional Films. The movie's director, Vittorio De Sica, was named the year's best director.

Also listed among the year's best films were "The Quiet One," "Intruder in the Dust," "The Heiress," "Devil in the Flesh," "Quartet," "Germany Year Zero," "Home of the Brave," "Letter to Three Wives," and "Fallen Idol."

The committee chose Ralph Richardson's acting in "The Heiress" and "Fallen Idol" as the best.

The board, founded in 1909, is a non-profit organization whose aim is to represent the motion picture public. The group is headed by Quincy How, author and editor.

GI Enrollments Remain High

College President
Cites Survey Figures

CINCINNATI, Dec. 19.—(AP)—GI students were cited yesterday in Dr. Raymond Walters' annual survey of colleges and universities for their "remarkable sustained enrollment."

The University of Cincinnati president, in making his 30th annual survey for the educational weekly, School and Society, described the academic training of World War II veterans as "the greatest higher-education project in all American history."

He said the 820,841 veteran students now on the campus have declined only 14 per cent from last year. The fall peak of veteran students was reached in 1947 when 1,149,933 were enrolled.

Dr. Walters' study showed that on Nov. 1 a total of 1,567,500 full-time and 427,295 part-time students were enrolled at 753 approved universities and four-year colleges reporting to him. Veterans made up 37.8 per cent of the total full-time students.

In 713 institutions supplying exactly comparable data, full-time students decreased 3.7 per cent this fall while the grand total went up 1.1 per cent.

The University of California, with 43,426 students, again topped Dr. Walters' list in full-time enrollment for the nation's 25 largest institutions. The University of Minnesota was second with 24,684, and the University of Illinois third with 22,858.

American Killed In Paris Air Crash

PARIS, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Eight persons, one an American, died last night in the crash of a Belgian Sabena Airlines plane. The twin-engined airliner missed a crowded movie theater by only a few hundred yards as it ploughed into a cottage adjoining Le Bourget airport.

Four of the dead were passengers. Four—all Belgians—were crew. Airline officials identified the American passenger as Foster White, 31, of Hartford, Conn., an executive of the United Aircraft Export corp. Two of the other passengers were Belgian.

The plane had just left Le Bourget on a regular night run to Brussels. All eight aboard the plane were killed.

Here's holiday refreshment for your Buick!

TIME'S coming when the air is full of good spirits, and we all feel pretty chipper — but what about that faithful Buick of yours?

Wet winter driving is roughest on cars—and even though it still handles like a sweetheart, your Buick may have slipped a notch or so in performance, or gradually acquired a squeak you haven't been aware of.

So do this...

Bring it to us for one of our winter tune-ups, plus a special winter LUBRICARE treatment. (This Lubricare is something you and your Buick should know about—it's an over-all trouble-check, plus a wonderfully thorough lubrication routine!)

Between these two refreshing treatments, you'll have all your Buick's glad and breezy power back—plenty of Fireball zoomph to pull you out of any traffic fuss. You'll have a quiet-riding body and chassis that make every mile a glad glide. And you'll have top mileage efficiency, with a motor that starts on the coldest morning as quick as a scared alarm clock!

Why put it off? Our service is quick and expert, our prices lower than you'd think. The driving pleasure you get is immense. Phone us now and make a holi-date for bringing your Buick's spirits up to those of the season!

Harvest Survey Report Awaited

Expect U. S. Totals To Be 2nd Highest

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19—(AP)—The nation learns today how much food the American farmer produced this year. The last perhaps for many to come when he could grow as much as he wanted.

The Agriculture department releases its final summary of the 1949 crop harvest at 3 p. m. It is expected to show that this year's total crops were second only to last year's record-smashing production.

The two big crop years have piled up big surpluses. Faced with spending a lot of money to support the prices of crops, the government has ordered a widespread return to prewar farm production controls to hold down further surpluses next year.

Barring another war or a series of crop failures, there is little reason to believe that many of these production curbs will be lifted in the foreseeable future. A tightening of controls may be necessary in future years to curb surpluses, officials fear.

Farm production generally was not restricted by the government during the war and for the past four post war years.

But now foreign production is stepping up and this country's farm exports are tapering off from recent record high levels. Meanwhile, an unprecedented supply of feed grains have piled up in this country. Cotton surpluses are mounting.

On the basis of today's report, the Agriculture department will decide how much of a cut to seek in corn and rice plantings next year. Acreage allotments, a mild form of control, will be used on these crops. Farmers who overplant their allotments will not be eligible for price support.

Pressure Grows In Coal Tieup

5-Day Week Needed; Taft Law Use Urged

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 19—(AP)—President Truman and congress may have to face a problem next month — how to get John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers back on a five-day work week.

Pressure is increasing in some quarters for the President to invoke the Taft-Hartley act.

Industry leaders say Lewis has created a national emergency through the four full scale walk-outs he's called this year and the three-day week which he has ordered indefinitely for his 480,000 United Mine Workers.

There's enough coal on hand for about three months unless unusually cold weather prevails.

But retailers and steel companies are watching their dwindling stockpiles and are worried.

The steel companies are starting to eat up their reserves. They are trying to catch up with the production they lost during the recent 42-day old strike of the CIO United Steelworkers.

It all adds up to increasing pressure on the industry and Lewis to get together on a contract to extend the one which expired last June 30.

Lewis isn't saying anything. But he's keeping a close watch on efforts of his lieutenants to get independent soft coal operators to sign contracts and break away from the solid front maintained by the industry's leaders. Meanwhile, negotiations are continuing with the anthracite operators who employ about 80,000 miners.

UMW officers say some contracts have been signed to cover a few of the 400,000 soft coal miners. They haven't said how many but indicate they have signed operators who produce about 10 per cent of the national tonnage. Top coal spokesmen scoff at the figures.

Meanwhile, industry leaders want the Taft-Hartley act used to get all diggers back into the pits on a five-day week.

Flier Says Science Effects Not All Good

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19—(AP)

Charles A. Lindbergh says modern man has allowed science to "insulate him too greatly from the earth to which he was born," thus throwing his whole existence out of balance.

"If we are to be finally successful," the "Lone Eagle" of 1927 transAtlantic flying fame declared in a weekend address, "we must measure scientific accomplishments by their effect on man himself."

To date, he told members of the Aero club of Washington the effect has not been entirely good.

Lindbergh made one of his rare public appearances before the aviation group Saturday night to receive the Wright brothers memorial trophy for high public service to aviation. He spoke on the 46th anniversary of the original airplane flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C.

Huge Acid Cloud Bothers City Folk

CINCINNATI, Dec. 19—(AP)—A section of suburban St. Bernard was blanketed for three hours yesterday by a cloud of evil-smelling fumes but no ill effects were reported by residents of the area.

The fumes, which resulted from leakage of chlorosulphonic acid from a tank at the Proctor and Gamble Co., were described by health authorities as irritating to the eye and nose but not toxic. More than 8,000 pounds of the acid escaped from the tank and formed a huge cloud of fumes as it made contact with ground water. It lasted three hours.

Motor traffic was rerouted around the section.

A Proctor and Gamble spokesman said loss was negligible.

Model Of Philanthropy

The latest gift from the Rockefeller fortune, $2,000,000 for the improvement of a New York hospital, is believed to have carried the total philanthropies of the family over the billion-dollar mark.

About half of this sum was given away by John D. Rockefeller, Sr., before his death in 1937. The rest has been given away by his namesake and other members of the family, much of it anonymously. Family policy is to leave all announcements of gifts to the donors, in the understanding that no publicity will be given out unless it is for the purpose of stimulating other potential philanthropists.

This is only one of a number of policies which have made the systematic distribution of the Rockefeller fortune a model of philanthropy. No other closely-held fortune has been applied more intelligently to the improvement of man's existence; there has been no other fortune of equal magnitude applied systematically in the belief that man's existence is improvable.

There is, of course, no way to measure what has been accomplished. But it is possible to appraise what has been attempted, which is to prove that the earnings of great wealth can become a prime source of satisfaction for both the giver and the beneficiary—and that to make this possible is not only a privilege but an obligation. Andrew Carnegie's philosophy that possessors of great surpluses of wealth were trustees, who held the surpluses only for the benefit of their fellow men, has been followed faithfully by the Rockefeller family.

Full Circle

Someone has to pick up the check for pensions and insurance in the steel industry. And it's not going to be the steel industry, whose component parts already are announcing price increases to cover this latest addition to the cost of being in business. It will be, as usual, the consumers who must dig down.

President Fairless of U. S. Steel, taking note of political intent to investigate his company's price increases, says he will jump at a chance to testify. One gathers that what Mr. Fairless really wants to jump at is some congressman who have been talking as if they thought the steel industry be told by congressmen how to handle its business.

And in the meantime, spokesmen for unionized steel workers are beginning to talk about another wage increase if steel prices rise. That, of course, would mean still further price increases to cover the wage increase. In turn, that would mean still more wage increases, higher pensions and so on—the same thing that has been going on in this country since before the end of the war.

It would add up to a new cycle of inflation, with everybody pointing to everybody else as the culprit. But there's nothing obscure about the culprit. But there's nothing obscure about the culprit this time.

It's the so-called "fact-finding" report on the steel industry—that marvelously rubbery document which can be stretched in any direction on an instant's notice to prove whatever needs to be proved. Unionists regard it as something akin to holy writ and now claim it proves the steel industry doesn't know how to do its own book-keeping. They previously have claimed it proves everything else they wanted proved, and in due time can be expected to claim it proves they should have more wage inflation. That happens to be the one thing the "fact-finders" tried to disprove, as it happens.

Farm King

NEW YORK—When the good earth will pay a fellow $10 an hour, should he leave the farm for a career in the city?

The new king of the nation's junior vegetable growers has decided there is only one answer to that one: "I'm staying on the farm." City life holds no attractions for 20-year-old Russell L. Sears, Jr., of Cumington, Mass., who was crowned champion of the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association in Washington last week.

He won the $500 first prize by raising and marketing $1,300 worth of vegetables on a two-and-one-half acre plot. Several thousand farm youths competed in the contest, sponsored by the A. and P. food stores.

Sears, a six-foot, 200 pound junior at the University of Massachusetts, explained that he grossed the $1,300 by sparetime work on his father's 300-acre farm.

"My father gave me a small plot to encourage me," he said, "and I worked it during vacation and on weekends home from college."

"MY BIG CROP WAS POTATOES. I hired what help I needed, and sacked and sold the crop myself to grocery stores. I put in only 45 hours of my own time altogether and the profit figures out at better than $10 an hour."

In addition he won $100 in prizes at three local fairs.

"I also got 3,000 servings for our table from my garden," said Sears, "and 150 pint boxes for our freezer and about 300 jars of canned vegetables."

His father wants him to take over the family farm in time, and the youth has agreed. He is already employing scientific farming techniques learned in school.

"I had to twist Dad's arm a little at first," he grinned, "but now he's all for them."

"We've airphotoed the farm to find the best way to conserve the soil by checking erosion."

"By keeping up with the times you can gross $10,000 or more a year on a New England farm such as ours. You ought to net better than $5,000—plus everything you need to eat except some salt from the store."

YOUNG SEARS WANTS to get rid of the farm's herd of 36 dairy cattle because "I don't care for cows—they just take up too much of a man's time."

His chief crops will be potatoes, chickens and tourists. He plans to modernize the 23-room old family

What's New?

In connection with the award of the 1949 Wright brothers memorial trophy this Saturday to Charles A. Lindbergh on the 46th anniversary of the epoch-making flight at Kitty Hawk, an old embarrassment to newspapers will be reviewed.

The embarrassment is the fact that most newspapers muffed the story of the Wright brothers' accomplishment when they flew their plane for the first time on Dec. 17, 1903. Only five of them accepted the "scoop" scored by the reporter from the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot who witnessed the flight. Others turned it down as a questionable account of an implausible achievement. They had no reason to believe that the Wright brothers or anyone else could make a machine that was heavier than air fly like a bird, or even fly like a flying machine. Actually, the Wright plane stayed aloft only 12 seconds on its first attempt, which didn't seem long enough to constitute proof that it could really fly.

But it did. The age of aviation began 46 years ago, and today newspapers concede cheerfully that it took most of them a long time to recognize it. And they concede, too, that in similar circumstances they might muffle something equally important. That's because of a weakness inherent in their preoccupation with news. All too often, "what's new?" really means, "what's new about the things that are old?"

News tends to come from established sources of news. What happens elsewhere, on the sand dunes of Kitty Hawk on a dismal December day, may be slighted because nothing newsworthy ever happened there before, or since.

His Brand-New Topper

Saving By Reorganization

By CLARKE BEACH

WASHINGTON—IS REORGANIZATION working? It isn't enough merely to realign and consolidate the various government agencies to accomplish the purposes of the Hoover Commission to save money and promote efficiency.

The reorganized agencies also must produce results. A progress report has now been turned out by one of the first and most important of the reorganized units, the General Services Administration (GSA). Jess Larson is GSA administrator.

GSA, created six months ago, is responsible among other things for the procurement, use and disposal of all supplies and personal services for the civilian agencies of the government. It coordinates its work with the military establishment, but has no authority in the military field. Larson's acts and plans up to now seem to fall generally into three categories:

1. Devising cheaper and more efficient methods of doing government business. 2. Eliminating such "five percenters" as get fat fees for acting as go-betweens for businessmen but whose work isn't necessary or legitimate. Larson points out, however, that some middle-men perform a necessary and legitimate function. 3. Spreading government business as widely as possible to enable small business to get its share of government orders.

HERE ARE SOME of the tangible steps taken under the first category:

1. A new type of purchase form is about to be adopted, combining in one process a variety of steps that formerly were required. It's called the "purchase order-invoice-voucher form." The Hoover Commission estimated that adoption of such a form would save the government $15,000,000 a year.

2. A single system of naming and classifying all government supplies is being worked out. The government now buys about 3,000,000 things, but the agencies call them by 6,000,000 names.

3. A plan is being developed for government agencies to exchange within geographical regions any property not in use.

4. A central traffic agency now helps government offices to ship economically—figuring out the best rates and shipping routes and giving packaging information. This agency is now small, but it will be expanded.

5. Forty thousand common use items are now bought on indefinite-term contracts. Instead of requiring expensive individual contracts for each order, an agency can simply order the supplies as it needs them, under a previously negotiated contract. In addition, 4,000 items are stocked in supply centers. Agencies can draw on these as they are needed.

HERE ARE SOME of the steps being taken to aid small business and curb the "five percenters":

1. To make it easier for sellers to do business with the government without coming to Washington or hiring agents here, 10 regional field offices of GSA are to be established. Also federal supply inquiry offices have been set up to give personal assistance to sellers. And GSA is posting in all field supply offices a "Supply Report" listing all goods which the government wants to purchase.

2. A simplified contract form is soon to be put in use. The businessman will use it wherever he deals with the government.

BIBLE THOUGHT

And ye have respect to him that weareth the gay clothing, and say unto him, Sit thou here in a good place; and say to the poor, Stand thou there, or sit here under my footstool.—James 2:3.

The sharp-eyed observer has to know where to look if he's following the cold war closely. For example, something may turn up on the real estate page, of all places.

Excise Taxes

By BRUCE BOSSAT

Even If Necessary, Review Is Needed

DURING World War II Congress imposed a broad range of excise taxes on the nation's economy. Some of these were designed to bring in more revenue, but others aimed primarily at cutting consumption of civilian goods.

Luxuries like jewelry, leather goods and cosmetics were a big target. But necessities were not exempted. For example, excises on railroad freight brought in $337,000,000 in one year, on passenger traffic $251,000,000, on telephone and telegraph business $535,000,000.

All these and many more were labeled wartime taxes but they are still with us four years after the end of the war.

Republicans in Congress have been clamoring for their removal for a long time. Gradually numerous Democrats joined the chorus, and now Sen. Scott W. Lucas, the Senate Democratic leader, has spoken as if he were sympathetic toward this objective.

Lucas noted a "tremendous sentiment in Congress and in the country" for knocking out the wartime levies. He thought such action might be a good stimulant for business, but that the lawmakers would have to turn up some other revenue sources to make up the loss.

Lucas made plain, however, that he has not consulted with President Truman. The President seldom overlooks a chance to call for higher taxes to close the widening gap between income and outgo; so it is highly improbable that he will endorse removal of the excise taxes now.

THAT DOES NOT mean nothing will be done. With elections coming up next fall, the 1950 session of Congress is certain to be tax-conscious. If it could make a showing by removing irksome levies and hiking others less noticeable to the public, Congress would probably be happy to do so.

The question will be where to place the heavier burdens to offset the lifting of excises. No bright suggestions have yet been heard.

With the 1949-50 deficit expected to be around $5,000,000,000 to $7,000,000,000, no one imagines we can risk making the situation worse by a further flat reduction in government income.

It may be argued that many of the excises are unwise and perhaps even unfair. For all anyone knows, the President might agree. But in the face of constantly mounting financial demands, he sees no course but to hang onto the revenues now pouring in.

WHEN THE WAR ended, informed guesses were putting the country's postwar budget at around $20,000,000,000 a year. It never even came close to that relatively low level. And now it's hitting up at about the $46,000,000,000 mark.

Naturally tax policies dreamed up at war's end had to undergo revision to meet this unforeseen burden. So the excises, along with steep corporate and personal income taxes, have stayed on the books.

Still, the excise program deserves careful review next year, even if election year politics inevitably will become entwined in the issue. Taxes definitely designed for a limited period should not be allowed to take on permanent character. Especially when there is danger they may do real harm in fields like rail transportation, which is now suffering considerably from a postwar travel decline.

Excises should be on the 1950 congressional agenda.

Health To You

Pain Killers Have Aided Treatment

UNTIL lately not much could be done to prevent pain. If a soldier was injured on the battlefield, he had to stand the pain until nature took it away. If a limb had to be amputated, the surgeon removed it as fast as possible or the patient fainted.

The victim of toothache had to grin and bear it until the tooth was removed. Nowadays we take for granted the quick and almost complete relief from almost any kind of pain—as soon as a doctor can be brought to the scene. Usually this expectation of relief can be granted promptly, thanks to the discovery of a whole group of drugs which reduce pain or cause unconsciousness. The drugs which lessen pain are called analgesics.

One of the oldest analgesics is morphine. Aspirin is a kind of mild analgesic drug, and there are many others.

Anesthetics are supposed to eliminate pain altogether. The general anesthetics cause unconsciousness—the pain just is not felt at all. In this group are included several gases—ether, ethylene, chloroform and laughing gas, or nitrous oxide. Some drugs which have this anesthetic effect can be injected into the veins rather than inhaled.

Of course, all the general anesthetics must be given with great care, as it is no simple matter to take away consciousness for long periods of time. General anesthesia, however, is one of the great boons to humanity. It permits operations and manipulations which would formerly have been impossible because of the pain.

Local anesthetics are substances which cause absence of pain in a local area for a long enough period of time to allow painful procedures to be carried out at the same time that the patient is fully conscious. Most of these are given by injection through a needle. For certain kinds of operations local anesthetics are better than the general ones.

Armed Forces' Benefits

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—FOURTEEN months ago President Truman appointed a committee on religion and welfare in the armed services.

Since then this committee—made up of educators, clergymen and civilians—has been studying that field.

And this week the nine-member committee made a 59-page report to the President on the services' information and education programs.

The committee said: "A soldier, seaman, or airman can serve his country with maximum effectiveness only if he understands his responsibilities as a citizen and as an individual member of the armed forces, if he appreciates the importance of his personal contribution to the national security, if he is provided with opportunities for education, and if he is kept informed on the major problems and purposes of his country."

So, the committee says, to have the best kind of service people they should be informed on what's happening, and why, and should be given a chance to get an education while in service.

The three armed services—Army, Navy and Air Force—recognize these programs. But says the committee:

"In general, the whole information and education program does not operate as efficiently in the field as should be expected and is desired. The effectiveness of the program varies among the services."

"The most effective program is being carried out within the Department of the Army."

The information program includes newspapers, films, maps, radio programs, and magazines and discussions.

The education program means schooling and correspondence courses.

But the committee found that some commanding officers were not taking enough part in pushing the programs and that some were indifferent.

In the Navy, for instance, the committee found "there appears to have been comparatively little realization at the higher levels" of the need for study courses and discussion groups.

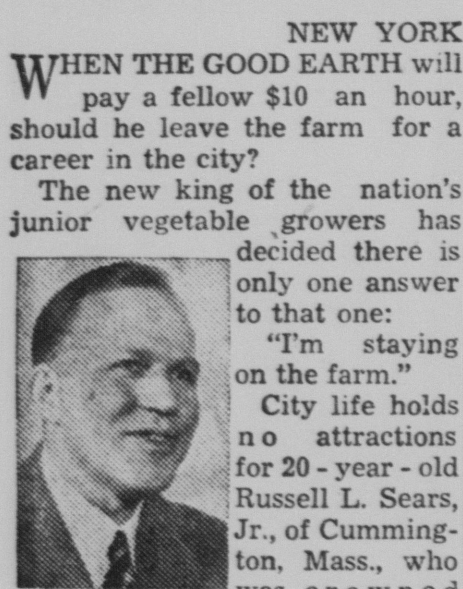

And the committee complained about a lack of trained people in this specialized field.

So They Say

I THINK there is a very good chance of getting some... international attempt to find a market for surpluses.

—Sir Herbert Broadley, deputy director-general of UN Food and Agriculture Organization.

By Hal Boyle

Hal Boyle
National Junior Vegetable Growers Association in Washington last week.

He won the $500 first prize by raising and marketing $1,300 worth of vegetables on a two-and-one-half acre plot. Several thousand farm youths competed in the contest, sponsored by the A. and P. food stores.

Sears, a six-foot, 200 pound junior at the University of Massachusetts, explained that he grossed the $1,300 by sparetime work on his father's 300-acre farm.

"My father gave me a small plot to encourage me," he said, "and I worked it during vacation and on weekends home from college."

"MY BIG CROP WAS POTATOES. I hired what help I needed, and sacked and sold the crop myself to grocery stores. I put in only 45 hours of my own time altogether and the profit figures out at better than $10 an hour."

In addition he won $100 in prizes at three local fairs.

"I also got 3,000 servings for our table from my garden," said Sears, "and 150 pint boxes for our freezer and about 300 jars of canned vegetables."

His father wants him to take over the family farm in time, and the youth has agreed. He is already employing scientific farming techniques learned in school.

"I had to twist Dad's arm a little at first," he grinned, "but now he's all for them."

"We've airphotoed the farm to find the best way to conserve the soil by checking erosion."

"By keeping up with the times you can gross $10,000 or more a year on a New England farm such as ours. You ought to net better than $5,000—plus everything you need to eat except some salt from the store."

YOUNG SEARS WANTS to get rid of the farm's herd of 36 dairy cattle because "I don't care for cows—they just take up too much of a man's time."

His chief crops will be potatoes, chickens and tourists. He plans to modernize the 23-room old family farm house to attract the tourists—summer fugitives from the city. "I don't want to live in a city myself," he smiled. "I've seen a city. I don't like the pace."

"There is more independence on a farm. It's easier to be your own boss."

"And, you know, you can get a lot more things done on a farm, because you don't have to change your clothes everytime you turn around. You can waste a lot of time getting in and out of a dress suit."

THE STORY OF THE SAVIOR

Each year Joseph and Mary went to Jerusalem for the Feast of the Passover, and when Jesus was 12 years old they took him along.

The Boy Jesus in the Temple

"As they returned, the child Jesus tarried behind in Jerusalem; and Joseph and his mother knew not of it" (Luke 2:43). They supposed he was following, but he was in the Temple.

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

His parents found him three days later, sitting among the learned doctors in the Temple, asking and answering questions. "And all that heard him were astonished at his understanding." (Luke 2:46, 47.)

Farm Market Gutted By Fire

Cleveland Tenants Want New Structure

CLEVELAND, Dec. 19—(AP)—Tenants of fire-wrecked Central market sought to persuade the administration today to erect a new building where they can sell their food.

But Mayor Thomas A. Burke told reporters he knew of little the city could do for the 150 retailers left without shops and stalls by Saturday night's $400,000 blaze.

It is not contemplated, he went on, to build a new structure where the city-owned rickety building burst into flames like a big bonfire in the center of Cleveland. Firemen still were trying to ascertain the cause today.

Fire Chief Elmer M. Cain estimated damages to the Central market proper were about $200,000. It is figured that it would have cost about $10,000 to tear down the building, which the city had planned to do some day.

The Glenville Paper Co. was wrecked when the flames spread and other nearby buildings were damaged. Cleveland carried no insurance on ugly Central market, where for 93 years farmers have brought their vegetables, meat and produce.

Extra police were detailed to the roped off fire site — just a quarter mile south of Public Square — and street car traffic was rerouted around the spot because of the teetering wall.

The Profile, Jr.

By INEZ ROBB

Young Barrymore Won't Be The Killer Pop Was

I NEVER SAW John Barrymore in his full-blown prime when The Profile was stacking Aunt Sue and her generation in the aisles.

And I am a trifle too mature now to swoon over a teen-ager, to-wit, John Barrymore Jr., 17-year-old son of the great John.

But of this I am certain: Junior will never send his generation of matinee babes into the frenzy wrought by his old man.

Junior, who has been in town recently, is a nice kid with all the classic problems of the seventeen-er: Girls, allowance, school, home, mother and an older sister, complicated by the aggravations of a movie career.

But girls don't stop dead in their tracks or whistle when he walks down the street or faint at his feet, as they did for the original John Barrymore.

"I couldn't follow in my father's footsteps, anyway," Junior said in his suite at the Astor hotel, as Broadway traffic rumbled underneath his sitting room windows. "Who could? He's already a legend."

COMPARISONS ARE ODISIOUS, so here I go being odious: Junior has a nice serviceable face for a teen-ager, but there is no hint in the classic beauty that really distinguished his father when he was young.

John Jr., has a markedly triangular face, ending in a sharp chin. He has nice, dark blue eyes and a nose that is good but not classic. He is a teen-ager of no more than medium height at best (and I remember going to interview John Sr. when he was already crochety old man, but still with a presence that seemed to make him seven feet tall.)

Junior has thick dark hair, worn in the darndest high, roached coiffure, a kind of old-fashioned pompadour, which I deduce is devised to add to his height. And something tells me the tailor had a mite to do with those broad shoulders under his neat gray blue suit, worn over a white shirt with a semi-Byronic collar (his father's trade mark) and a knitted navy blue tie.

BUT EVEN IF HE isn't nearly as purty as I expected, John Jr. seemed nice and earnest and not too sure of himself, just as a seventeen-er should seem. He said he had finished his first picture, "The Sundowners," in which he plays a minor role, and is ready to begin work in the lead part of "The Deadfall," his second picture on Jan. 2.

"Sure, I'm not old enough to have the lead," he agreed, as he sat on the divan and wiggled about as much as the average teen-ager caught by the village gossip.

"I'm not really old enough to have any part," he added. "But I'll try hard. I'm willing to play any part in the movies, no matter how small, just to get experience."

Until a few years ago, John Jr. intended to be a chemist. Then, one day, an experiment blew his room apart. His mother, the former Dolores Costello, was kinda mad because it blew holes in the carpet. And about that time he began to think that an acting career might not be so bad.

He is a senior in the Ken-Mar High school this year, but he doubts if he will be graduated in June, now that he is head-over-heels in the movies.

"And it's not only Mama," he added despondently. "It's the whole darn state of California. You gotta go to school out there till you're eighteen."

JOHN JR. HAS AN awful time with his allowance of $75 a week, making it pay for his clothes, his doctor's bills and everything.

"Gee," he said aggrievedly. "Do you know it cost $1.50 to buy a lemonade in a night club? How do they get away with it?"

John Jr. has not been treading the primrose night club path in New York, what with lemonades at that outrageous price. He doesn't drink liquor. Can't stand the stuff. And he can't stand the price of lemonade.

As for girls, well, at 17 John has simply renounced going steady with any member of the opposite sex.

"I went steady once. But never again," he said. "I can't see it. Do you know, I know a girl who is going steady with three fellows at once. Can you imagine that?"

Baked sparrow dried newts, monkey's head, and toasted hawk are some of the primitive "cures" still available in Tokyo chemistry shops.

New Officers Take Posts In Eastern Star Ceremony

By PEARL WALKER and ELINOR CURRIER

MRS. ARTHUR S. JOHNSTON was installed as worthy matron of Salem Chapter Order of Eastern Star in an impressive ceremony Friday evening in Masonic Temple.

Blue and gold tones, the chapter colors for 1950, were accentuated in a beautiful Yuletide setting in the chapter room. Festoons of pine boughs through the room were dotted with blue and gold ornaments. A huge blue urn was filled with large yellow chrysanthemums and two Christmas trees were strung with blue and gold lights.

Arthur S. Johnston, worthy patron for the ensuing year, served as honorary marshal for the rites, during which Mrs. Herbert Yengling sang "Ave Maria" with Mrs. Melvin A. York at the piano.

Mrs. William G. Aldom, installing officer, was assisted by Mrs. C. E. Phillips, chaplain; Mrs. M. A. Kelly, conductress; Mrs. John Lewis, secretary; Mrs. Arthur Nicholas and Mrs. Guy Coppock, marshals; Mrs. York, organist; Mrs. E. C. Detimore, warder, and William G. Aldom, sentinel. Mrs. Clyde Williams was in charge of the guest book.

The officers roll includes: Associate matron, Mrs. V. R. McBane; associate patron, M. A. Kelly; secretary, Mrs. Sarah Ashead; treasurer, Mrs. Cecil Scullion; conductress, Mrs. M. W. Riegel; associate conductress, Mrs. R. W. Broomall; chaplain, Mrs. Lulu McCarthy; marshal, Mrs. Ralph B. Long, Sr.; organist, Mrs. C. D. Snevel; Ada, Mrs. James Giffin; Ruth, Miss Margaret Floyd; Esther, Mrs. George A. Ryser; Martha, Miss Lois McClaskey; Electa, Mrs. Thomas E. Crothers; warder, Mrs. Howard Firestone; sentinel, Carl Clay; pages, Mrs. Donald Harvey and Mrs. D. C. Griffith; member of the board of trustees, Mrs. Gale Dougherty; chapter representative on the temple board, Clem Knowles.

Mrs. Yengling, Mrs. George Adams, Mrs. Charles Oertel, Mrs. William Wright, Mrs. Wayne Wilson and Mrs. L. T. Hill made up in the choir.

As Mr. Johnston was pledged in his office, Melvin A. York presented a Bible to him.

Mrs. Dougherty, retiring worthy matron, was presented with an arm bouquet of red roses by the 1949 officers.

Mrs. Dougherty and Edwin Goodballet, the latter worthy patron for 1949, received their past jewels with Mrs. Fred Hall and M. A. Kelly making the presentations.

For this part of the service, Mrs. Glenn L. Davis sang "My God and I", playing her own accompaniment.

Mrs. Edward M. Jenkins, a past worthy matron, gave the star point address.

The reception was in the dining room, which was artistically decorated. A large trimmed Yule tree was featured.

In the center of the room was a small table laid with a white Italian cutwork cloth and graced by a large bouquet of yellow roses in a crystal vase. Around it were gifts wrapped in gold. They were among those received by Mrs. Johnston from her officers and friends.

Refreshments were served at tables lighted with red and white candles and decked with Christmas trees made of colored graduated balls.

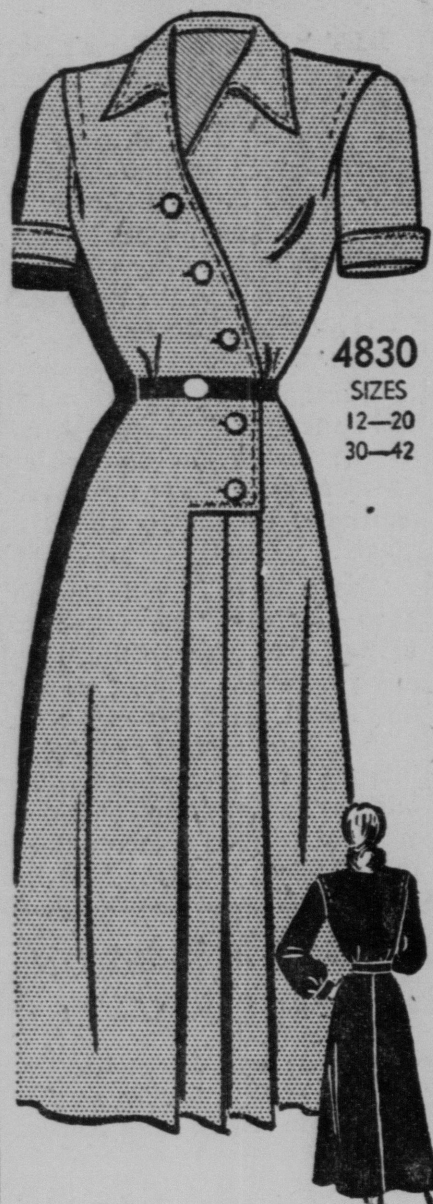

The new worthy matron gave gifts to her officers and corsages and gifts to the installing officials.

Approximately 200 attended the installation. Some of the guests were from Hanoverton, Warren, Youngstown, East Palestine, Alliance Sebring, Canton, Akron, Canal Fulton, Carrollton, Columbiana, Lisbon and Leetonia.

Distinguished guests were the Grand Marshal, Martha Rieger of Canal Fulton; the Grand Representative to Iowa, Burdella Martindale of Alliance; the Grand Representative to Tennessee, Mary Fisher of Canton and the District Deputy Grand Matron, Evelyn Ashton of Carrollton.

Obligation night will be observed at the Jan. 3, meeting.

Christmas Decorations Subject of Discussion

MRS. JAMES Rawsthorne gave an interesting talk relating to Christmas decorations at the Yule meeting of the Philathea Class of the First Baptist Church Friday evening at the home of the teacher, Mrs. Leroy Hart-sough, Damascus. The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

Mrs. William Park and Miss Martha Park were in charge of the entertainment, which included games.

Preceding the meeting, the group had a dinner at Barnett's. Gifts were exchanged.

Guests were Mrs. R. J. Hunter, Miss Nancy Diehl, Mrs. Jesse Diekey, Mrs. L. S. Richards and Mrs. Wayne Rozeski.

Jan. 17 meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Albert Zimmerman, Washington ave.

Pythians Have Yule Program At Meeting

MRS. FRANCES Flick received the gift box at a meeting of Friendship Temple, Pythian Sisters, Thursday evening in the hall, S. Broadway.

At this session Mrs. Warren Courtney assumed her duties as most excellent chief. A gift of money was presented the temple by Mrs. William Probert.

The temple voted to send a gift to the Pythian home at Medina.

Thirty members enjoyed a Christmas party in connection with the lodge meeting.

Recordings of Christmas carols furnished entertainment. Lunch was served at small tables centered with large red candles in silver holders. Favors were miniature crocheted wreaths made by Mrs. Probert.

Committee in charge included Mrs. Robert Kirchgesner, Mrs. Probert, Mrs. George Barnes and Mrs. Purn Siding. Mrs. Kirchgesner and Mrs. Siding were in charge of the distribution of gifts.

The next meeting is Dec. 29.

Put Cranberry Red Into Menus

CRANBERRIES are cheap and here's Christmas! So let's get going.

Christmas Cranberry Spice Cake (Makes 2 (8-inch) layers)

Three tablespoons cream type cornstarch, 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons soda, ½ teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon allspice, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ cup nut meats, 1 cup canned whole cranberry sauce.

Sift together cornstarch, flour, salt, soda, baking powder and spices. Cream shortening and syrup together; add egg and mix thoroughly. Add raisins and nuts; mix. Alternately add dry ingredients and cranberry sauce; mix thoroughly. Pour into two greased (8-inch) layer cake pans. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.)

35 to 45 minutes. When cool, frost with any desired frosting.

Want a bright red salad for Christmas dinner?

Christmas Cranberry Salad (Serves 6)

One-and-one-half cups sugar, 1 cup water, 4 cups cranberries, 1½ tablespoons gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ¼ cup chopped walnuts, 1 cup diced celery.

Boil sugar and water together for 5 minutes. Add cranberries and cook slowly, without stirring, 5 minutes—or until all the skins pop open. Soften gelatin in cold water. Dissolve in hot sauce. Add lemon juice. Cool. When the sauce begins to thicken, fold in nuts and celery. Transfer to mold and chill until firm. Unmold. Serve with cream cheese and sour cream blended together.

Presbyterian Group Holds Get-Together

College students, with other guests and members of the Presbyterian Young Adult Fellowship, enjoyed the hospitality of the home of Mrs. Orrick Robinson and Misses Janet and Joan Robinson on E. State st. Sunday evening.

The party, a Christmas get-together, followed the Sunday meeting of the fellowship in the church. A guest, Rev. S. A. Bass of Brewster, was the surprise speaker of the evening. His inspirational Christmas message was much appreciated.

Guests in the Robinson home were seated about a large lighted Christmas tree and gifts for each were distributed by Santa Claus, alias Rev. Harold L. Oden.

Fruits and nuts formed the centerpiece at the buffet tables where the guests served themselves. Decorated and fancy cookies were favors.

Future Brides Feted By Mary Lou Brian

As a courtesy to Miss Marjorie Brian, bride-elect of John C. Colson of South Bend, Ind., and Miss Lucia Hosmer Sharp, bride-to-be of George Harris Dexter of Manchester, Conn., Miss Mary Lou Brian of Shaker Heights, entertained a group of friends from 4 to 6 p. m. Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brian, Cleveland st.

Holiday trimmings made the home beautiful. The honor guests were each presented a gift by the hostess.

Mrs. Brian assisted her daughter in serving refreshments from a buffet table prettily decorated in Christmas ornaments.

Among the guests were Mrs. Ford Fay Miskell of Shaker Heights, sister of Miss Sharp, and Miss Virginia Snyder, teacher in a Girls' School in Berkeley, Calif.

Las Amigas Guests Of Mrs. Thompson

LAS Amigas club associates were guests of Mrs. Frank Thompson Thursday evening at her home, N. Ellsworth ave.

After an exchange of gifts, the members were interested in sewing. The refreshment table was laid with a red and green cloth and centered with a miniature tree made of ornaments. A lighted tree on the mantel accentuated the holiday season.

The Dec. 29 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Howard Waffler, E. Eighth st. Mrs. Robert Schaeffer will be given a handkerchief shower in observance of her birthday.

Christmas Party Held By Sevakene Members

More than 100 members and their families participated in the annual Christmas party of the Sevakene Country Club Sunday evening in the club house.

A large tree was beautifully decorated. Table appointments and favors emphasized the holiday theme.

Children in the group presented a short program after the dinner. Their names are:

Sue Ellen Ernst, Virginia Johnson, Jerry Poorbaugh, Denny Weaver, Molly Malloy, Linda Bush, Billy Metz, Paul Sommer-ville and Dickie Poorbaugh.

Ivan Lautzenheiser sang two solos, with Mrs. Lautzenheiser at the piano. Mrs. W. J. Seeman accompanied Mrs. Frank Diehl, who sang two solos. There was group singing of Christmas carols.

All the children received gifts during a visit from Santa Claus.

Perry Grange Members To View Three Films

A movie, depicting oddities in Ohio industries, Ohio's good earth and the Ohio State Fair will provide entertainment for members of Perry Grange at the Wednesday evening session.

A play, "Toby's Christmas Tree" will be included on the program and gifts will be exchanged.

Brownie Troop 13 Receives Party

Mrs. Emil Cosma, leader of Brownie Troop 13, arranged for the enjoyable party participated in by 20 Brownies last Friday in Holy Trinity Lutheran Church. Each girl of the troop received a gift from Mrs. Cosma.

Santas, made of apples and marshmallows, and popcorn balls were given as favors as the guests were seated about the refreshment tables decorated in ball Christmas trees and other trimmings of the season.

Games added to the entertainment and gifts were exchanged. Assisting with the party were Mrs. Howard Trotter, Mrs. Elmer Kerr, Mrs. Preston Snyder, Mrs. A. V. Henning and Mrs. Allen Helmick, who also helped with the games.

Bank Employees Given Christmas Dinner

Red candles were combined in the Christmas bouquet which added beauty to the table at a delightful dinner party enjoyed by employees of the Farmers National Bank, their wives and husbands, and members of the board of directors and their wives Saturday evening in the Knotty Pine Room of the Lape Hotel.

Beside the favors there were Christmas corsages for the women in the company. Places were laid for 65.

E. M. Stephenson, president, distributed the annual bonus to the employees. F. J. Emeny, chairman of the board, gave a fraternal talk.

Following the dinner, the group went to the Stephenson home, N. Union ave. A variety of entertainment contributed to the pleasure of the guests.

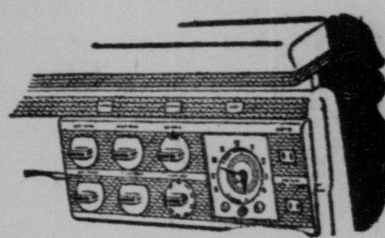

Salem Label Employees Entertained At Party

Miss Nancy Youtz delightfully entertained employees of the Salem Label Co. Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Strabley, E. Ninth st.

The home was made attractive with Christmas trimmings. Gifts were exchanged. Miss Mary Lou Horning won high score honors in the canasta games, while Mr. Strabley won low score. Miss Margaret Wolhuter of Deerfield and Miss Frances Hoffmaster of the Ellsworth rd. were guests.

Building Activity

Early Construction Planned For City Housing Projects

At least two of the many rumored home projects are well into the planning stages with Pelton and Meissner, contractors, promoting one and C. D. Gow, realtor backing the other.

A 10-home project will begin this spring in the north-east section of Salem. Pelton and Meissner are planning the construction and have already contacted the City Planning Commission which is now studying the project. F. H. A. inspectors are expected to look over the plans within six weeks.

Both frame and brick veneer homes are to be built, according to Pelton. The homes will range in price from $12,500 to $15,000, including a package kitchen of range, refrigerator, dishwasher and disposal unit. The lots will be rough-graded and will be partially landscaped to line with the main shrubbery planted.

Homes will contain four, five, or six rooms with unfinished second floors and full basements. They will be heated with either automatic gas or fuel oil units.

Pelton said they hope to break ground about March 1. This project is expected to extend over a period of four to five years with more homes constructed each year.

Gow Planning Homes

Gow said he expects to build from 10 to 12 new houses with construction due to start this week, weather permitting. They will be situated in various parts of Salem near city limits.

He will specialize in small one-floor bungalows. They will contain four-and-a-half rooms and are to cost from $7,000 to $8,000. The construction will be completed before the middle of next summer. The houses will be heated by automatic gas units and will contain Mullins kitchen units. Each house will be all-frame construction.

Two houses started by Gow this fall are nearing completion on N. Ellsworth extension across from the polo field.

Clinic Elevator In

The Central Clinic elevator will be ready for operation this week as the building program speeds toward completion. The elevator will serve the basement dining and food-preparation area and the first and second floors.

With the connecting corridors between the old and new sections of the hospital the elevator will service both buildings. The Canton Elevator Co. holds the contract for this phase of the Clinic addition.

Superintendent Albert Hanna said the walls and ceiling of the second floor are ready for lathers and plasterers. All windows have been installed and are ready for glazing. The S. C. Service Co. will handle glazing operations.

Apartments Completed

Four apartments at 493 S. Broadway are now occupied following repairs and alterations. The building, the former Webber property which was purchased from the city and moved from the corner of E. Pershing and S. Broadway to its present location, contains three and four room apartments with individual heating units—three gas and the original coal.

Frank Hoperich did the carpenter work and Harry Izenour the plumbing for the $4,000 project, the owner, Jesse Kaufman, said.

Government In Housing

Government housing authorities are now seeking scientific advice on how to build the best kind of low-cost home. A federal contract will soon be signed with the University of Illinois authorizing scientists there to develop a kind of composite home offering the best in health and comfort at a low price.

Officials have not determined how much will be spent on the study or how long it will run but it will probably be in connection with the new public housing program.

In a series of elaborate tests the Bureau of Standards has been convinced that the use of baseboard heating systems in homes provide the most comfortable systems for dwellings than many systems now in use. Many low price houses have been recently built with baseboard heating equipment which transfers heat primarily by convection of air.

Although there are some disadvantages to this system the bureau says the baseboard heating system is ideal for basement-less homes because it is installed above the floor level and provides better comfort than most systems at the floor level. This system can be used in homes with basements.

Aluminum Nails Now

Positive elimination of a familiar and persistent home-owners' bugaboo—unsightly rust stains from common nails used in applying siding and roofing—has been simplified by the use of aluminum nails, according to leading architects and builders.

Nail stain most noticeably affects light-painted wood and composition siding. This can be remedied only by refinishing and repainting, which is expensive and temporary. Aluminum nails cost slightly more than common nails—about $5 more for an average-sized five room house, but they will not produce red stain.

Don't Patch Old Roof

When an old roof begins to leak, it wears out uniformly and patching is seldom an effective means of repair, according to the National Bureau of Standards. In fact, new leaks might be started when workmen climb on the weak roofing.

In most cases, the practical way to make permanent roof repairs is to replace the roofing material. Asphalt shingles also add fire-resistance, an essential quality according to the National Fire Protection Association.

Roofs which will catch fire from chimney sparks or airborne firebrands are the fourth-ranking fire hazard, according to property damage, and the fifth hazard, according to number of fires, the N. F. P. A. says. In hundreds of cities and towns, building codes now prohibit the use of inflammable shingles.

Displays Planned

Some two hundred manufacturers of building materials and equipment, who will participate in the Ohio Lumbermen's Exposition at the Cleveland Public Auditorium, Jan. 24, 25, and 26, will be asked to display their trade promotion programs for the next year, in connection with their products.

Small Space Needed

Modern boilers for steam or hot water heating systems require little more room than a small gas stove. They are a welcome solution to problems of space-saving in new home construction where the plans include a recreation, hobby, laundry or other "extra" room in the basement.

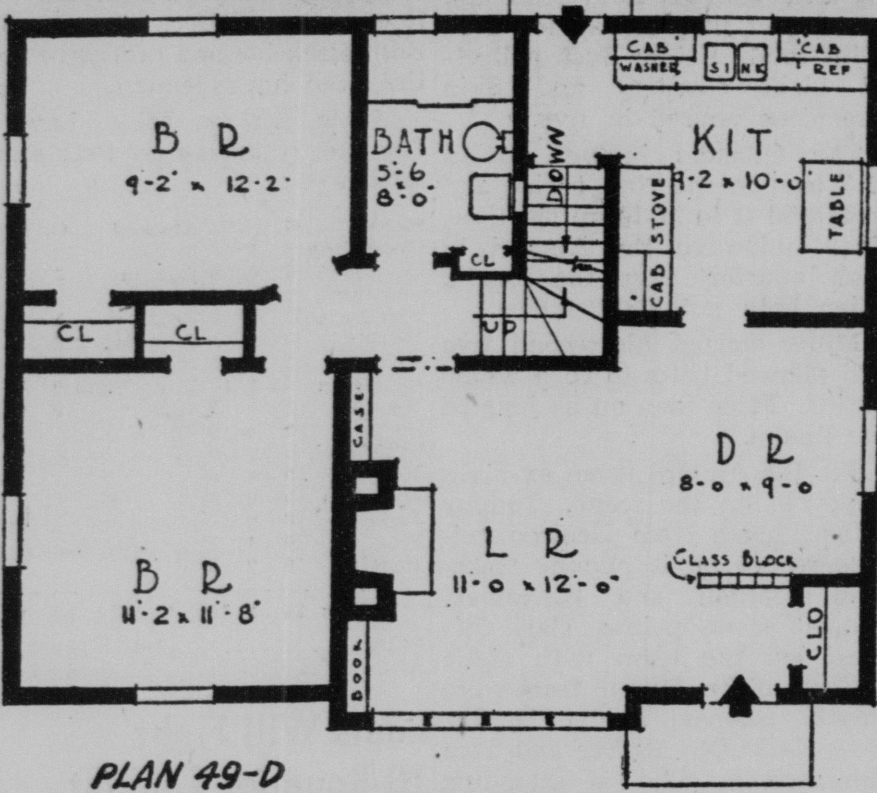

In either the hot water or steam systems, year-around domestic hot water is heated by the same boiler that heats the home. The expense and extra space requirements of a separate water heater are unnecessary. A dependable supply of hot water is available in both summer and winter.

Tenants Protected

"Tenants are entitled to—and will receive—the full protection of the law against illegal rents, bonuses, and other practices that amount to an overcharge for controlled accommodations," acting area rent director, Earl F. Bradbury, stated recently. He stressed the fact that the present rent control law does not expire until June 30, 1950.

He explained whenever a ten-

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

PLAN 49-D

ECONOMY WITHOUT SKIMP-

ING is the keynote of this plan for a small house with complete basement and expansion attic for additional rooms. The architect who developed this plan from the basic "economy house" idea has planned it so the house will cover an area of only 768 square feet. The architect contends that inclusion of a fireplace adds enough attraction and comfort to a living room to offset the cost of this feature.

ant complains that he is being overcharged, the usual procedure is for the rent office to call in the owner and obtain a refund of any past overcharge and an agreement not to exceed ceilings in the future.

"In some cases we find that the maximum rent is out-of-date and the landlord is entitled to an adjustment, either for improvements to the property or increased services. For example, the present tenant may have the use of a garage which was added after the maximum rent was set. The resulting adjustment may reduce the amount the landlord will be asked to refund to his tenant," he added.

Model House Studied

A family looking for a new place to live might not think much of a 12 by 12-foot house—built indoors at that. But a house of that kind at Bethesda, Md., is serving a vital purpose in keeping the home building industry at peak productive capacity.

American Builder magazine says the miniature home is being constructed in a classroom by students of the Apprentice Training Association of metropolitan Washington. To teach students a variety of skills, different materials are used for each wall of the building.

Modern Home Excels

The average modern home is vastly superior to its counterpart 40 years ago, according to spokesmen for the Society of Residential Appraisers. In basic construction, design, equipment and general "livability" of the new home of today offers advantages far surpassing those of the house built in the first decade of the 20th century.

Among notable advances in basic construction are: strong footings, better foundations, reinforcement at various points for greater wall and roof strength, insulation, termite-proofing and improved basement construction.

In design the modern home is much more functional, featuring efficient utilization of space. Poor planning, resulting in considerable wasted space, was common in the "good old days."

Carefully engineered, automatically controlled central heating systems, as well as wiring systems and lighting facilities suited to specific family needs are other outstanding points of superiority in the home of today.

The 1910 house suffers even further by comparison when one considers the numerous labor-saving appliances with which the modern home is equipped.

Built-Ins Favored

Built-in storage facilities in homes find great favor among women. American Builders magazine learned this when 3,000 women realtors were asked for suggestions on home building.

Among the unique built-in features is a modern version of the old-fashioned pantry. This has double doors, with shelves and racks on inner sides for cooking utensils, condiments, cookbooks and other kitchen items. It also has built-in bins for vege-

Weatherstrip Beats Draft

BY BOB SCHARFF
Written for NEA Service

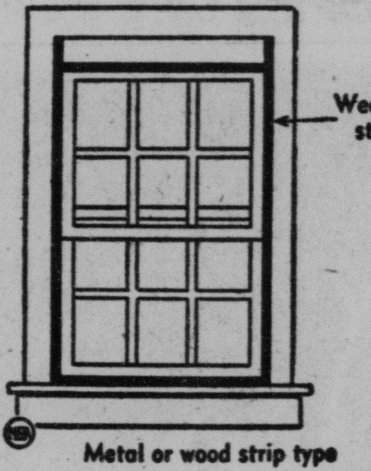

WHEN windows rattle and doors shake in heavy winds, you can be sure that a job of weatherstripping is needed.

Weatherstrip can be had in a great variety of designs and materials. The very best and most expensive is the metal interlocking type which provides a double seal against the escape of heat or the admission of cold drafts. This type must be set into the wood, a fairly simple job with a routing plane but difficult without one. Cuts and directions for installation are furnished by the manufacturer.

The type more often installed in homes already built is composed of a metal or wood strip, in the shape of a narrow molding with a rubber or felt edge, quite flexible but firm.

To apply this type of strip, close the window. Measure the upper sash and cut the weatherstrip to the proper length. Place it against the window frame so that the rubber or felt edge touches the sash tightly along its entire length. Then tack it into place with small brads. When both sides are done, repeat the performance on the lower sash.

At top of the upper sash and the bottom of the lower sash, the strip is tacked to the sash and not to the frame. To make a neat job, mitre or bevel off the upper and lower stripping which is fastened to the sash so that it will fit snugly against the vertical pieces.

To weatherstrip the door, apply the strip all around the door frame when the door is tightly closed. On the bottom, lay a piece of the strip on the doorsill on the outside and lay another piece along the bottom of the door on the inside, so that it also touches the sill when the door is shut.

Weatherstrips for metal frame casement windows are made to snap into the grooves around the edges of the sashes, being held in position by their springiness. Felt can also be used on metal casements and is held in place with thick shellac or liquid solder.

Never paint weatherstripping because it will harden when the paint dries.

tables and fruit and more conventional shelves and cabinets.

Bedroom closets are built to ceiling height to provide storage compartments for seasonal clothing, extra blankets and other infrequently used belongings.

Housing Fraud Brings Indictment Of Sons

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 19—Raymond L. Reynolds, 24, today was convicted of 17 charges of fraudulent conversion conspiracy and embezzlement in the Reynolds Construction Co., housing fraud, a quarter-million dollars for homes they didn't get. Young Reynolds was an officer of the company. His father, Raymond Reynolds, who headed the firm, is under indictment on similar charges. The elder Reynolds disappeared when would-be home buyers filed complaints 18 months ago.

The jury of three men and nine women recommended mercy. During his trial young Reynolds placed all the blame on his father and maintained that he was a dupe in the operation.

Eagles Stomp Rams In Mud

Bell Refuses Request To Postpone Game

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19—(AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles are still champions of the National Football League.

And Steve Van Buren is a terrific back, even in the mud. But NFL head Bert Bell will never win a sports popularity contest in these parts.

Those items stand out today in the wake of a crushing 14-0 victory by the Eagles over Los Angeles Rams in the Coliseum yesterday. What was billed as a high-scoring duel between two speed-burning, pass-happy teams turned into a slow-moving tug-of-war between two lines, with the Eagles was the better.

Only once did passing become important. Then three quick tosses provided one of Philadelphia's touchdowns. The other came on a blocked punt.

The teams sparred through the first quarter, but the Eagles broke loose early in the second. Quarterback Tommy Thompson tossed two passes to left end Jack Ferrante—the second of which he caught on the ground after it was deflected. Thompson mixed in tries at the line, then rifled one to All-Pro end right end Pete Pihos for 31 yards and a touchdown.

The second score came four minutes after the third quarter started. The Rams were on their 10, set back by a holding penalty, when end Leo Skladany broke through to block Bob Waterfield's punt, pick up the ball on the three and trot across. A high pass from center was a contributing factor. Cliff Patton converted both scores.

The Rams threatened only once, and that was nullified by an interception. The Eagles lost a third chance when Jim Farmer fumbled on the seven.

So bad was the weather that the management of both Eastern and Western Division winners were willing to postpone the playoff until Christmas. But Commissioner Bell, in his home in Philadelphia, said no.

News of Our Neighbors

Damascus

DAMASCUS, Dec. 19—The Garfield Grange Christmas party will be held at the grange hall Thursday evening, Dec. 22. A program and a gift exchange will be held and lunch will be served by the men. A regular business session will be held the same evening, taking the place of the meeting Dec. 28.

The names of J. M. Hull and Orlan John were proposed for membership when a meeting was held in the hall last Wednesday evening.

A discussion was held about buying new chairs for the grange and Ellis Steer and Frank Kampfer were appointed to investigate prices and styles.

The charter was draped in memory of Ross Lawrence, state grange lecturer, who died recently.

Emanuel Grise was awarded the attendance prize.

A coverish supper was enjoyed by members of the Mother's Club in the cafeteria at the High School building last Wednesday evening.

During the business session, it was decided to sponsor the Brownie Scouts and Intermediate Scouts and to pay the postage on films used in the grade school.

A committee, composed of Mrs. Henry Hussman and Mrs. Ralph Davis, was appointed to purchase gifts for any children in the first to sixth grades who are seriously ill.

Mrs. Niles Pettay, Jr., gave a talk on "Scouting," and "What it means and what is expected of Minerva" gave a reading, "The Legend of the Pretzel."

Professor Kitzmiller of Mount Union College will give a talk at the next meeting of the Mother's Club, Jan. 9.

A coverish dinner with Christmas appointments was enjoyed by members of the Merry Mixers Club last Wednesday at the home of an associate member, Mrs. Bren Griffith.

In the afternoon Mrs. Allen Stanley read the Scripture lesson from Isaiah 9, and a Christmas poem was read by Mrs. Crawford Brantingham.

Contest prizes were awarded Mrs. Clarence Ellyson and Mrs. John Denny. Mrs. Wade Shaffer of Salem was a guest.

It was decided to prepare a box for a needy family. Gifts were exchanged.

Officers elected for the coming year are: President, Mrs. Robert Moore; vice president, Mrs. Lorin Moore.

Junior High Five Adds Two Victories

An impressive Salem Junior High cage squad racked up its eighth consecutive win Saturday night by soundly trouncing Maple Ridge 40-14 in the preliminary game at the High school.

The junior Quakers pounced on the hapless Maple Ridge team for a 20-0 lead before one of the losers canned a foul shot. The locals simply overwhelmed their opposition with sharp, fast passing and shooting.

At halftime, Salem led 28-4. Substitutes were used throughout the last half.

Ronnie Llewellyn and Stan Cosky led the scoring with six points each.

Friday afternoon the Junior High cagers stomped over Columbiana 38-22, with Tom Boone and Sandy Hansell top scorers with 11 points each. Salem led 21-9 at halftime. The game was played on the Clippers' new floor.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE With Major Hoople

GREAT CAESAR!! WHAT INFERNAL MOCKERY IS THIS? THAT DRAUGHT FACTORY MADE MY STOCKING-MUFFLERS FOUR INCHES INSTEAD OF FOUR FEET! I AM RUINED - SPUTT-TT-!!

DIDN'T THEY PRODUCE THAT SAMPLE HANGING ON THE MANTEL? HOW COULD THEY EVER COME UP WITH SUCH A WILD THROW?

THIS IS GOING TO BRIGHTEN UP THE CHRISTMAS FESTIVAL ALL RIGHT - IT'LL BE AS JOPLY AS AN AFTERNOON READING DANTE'S INFERNO IN THE SING SING LIBRARY!

A WONDERFUL IDEA - AND A LITTLE MISTAKE =

Oksner

OUT OUR WAY - - - - - By J. R. Williams

HOLY SMOKE! THAT CURLS A WIZARD! WITH A CHRISTMAS TREE HE GETS A TURKEY TOO!

THAT'S NOTHIN' FER HIM--HE'S ROPED IN THICKER BRUSH THAN THAT HALF HIS LIFE! WHY, AFTER KETCHIN' A STEER HE'S PICKED MORE BRUSH OFF HIMSELF THAN THAT.

THEN THIS GUY LAMPS ME. HE GETS A GOOD LOOK AT ME.

THE CHANCES ARE THE COPS WILL NEVER FIND HIM, KID. ANYWAY, THE GUY DON'T FIGURE TO ADD UP THE DOG AND NICK'S DEATH.

YEAH... THAT'S RIGHT!

But at police headquarters...

NO, MONTE. I DIDN'T SEE THE MAN YOU'RE TALKING ABOUT.
